EMBO Young Scientists Forum

2015-04-27

On 2-3 July, 2015 EMBO Young Scientists Forum will be organized in Warsaw. The EMBO Young Scientists Forum aims to gather young European researchers in order to provide motivation and inspiration for students to pursue their education and career in the life sciences. The meeting is a great opportunity for PhD students, postdocs and junior investigators to interact with Europe's most promising young scientists, members of the EMBO Young Investigator Programme.

Young researchers will have a possibility to present their work as short lectures (selected from abstracts) and as posters, as well as to join informal discussions of the policies and practices for doing world-class science.

The 2015 Young Scientists Forum is 8th in the series of annual meetings organized by the recipients of EMBO Installation Grants.
