

Nencki Institute of Experimental Biology

Medal of the 100th Anniversary of the Nencki Institute for the Department of Biochemistry of the Eötvös Loránd University in Budapest

2018-09-07

On August 29th 2018, prof. Maria Jolanta Rędownicz, on behalf of the Director of the Institute prof. Agnieszka Dobrzyń, awarded the Medal of the 100th Anniversary of the Nencki Institute to prof. Laszlo Nyitray, head of the Department of Biochemistry of the Lorand Eotvos University in Budapest. The medal was awarded in recognition for the contribution of scientists from the Department, to the development of the Nencki Institute. The scientific collaboration between both organizations has been ongoing since late 1960. and concentrates on problems related to muscle biochemistry.